

Lenora Eve began her piano instruction at the age of six and sang in her church through her teen years. She continued into college on a piano and vocal scholarship Ultimately receiving her Masters in Music from University of North Texas.

Living and singing professionally in Germany for two years, Ms Eve was hired as a guest artist with the Landestheater Detmold.

Upon her return to the states, she was hired as an instructor at Midwestern State University in Texas where she taught private vocal lesson, French Diction, and was director of the musical theater/opera program. In addition, she was co-director of Red River Lyric Theater.

Lenora's sights were set on a life in New York and she moved to study with the famous vocal instructor, Cornelius Reid.

Her NYC teaching credits are:

30+years private vocal instructors to some of the most famous Jewish cantors and Jewish contemporary singers as well as opera singers and Broadway-credited singers.

Her singing credits include:

Carnegie Hall alto soloist (Lord Nelson Mass)

National Broadway Tour of Sound of Music

National/International tours of Sound of Music and First National tour of State Fair

She was music director at Kol Ami for over 5 years and continues to be the High Holiday Music Director