Why Shabbat

Before family vacations, get-away weekends, and temple retreats, there was Shabbat. Before therapy, crisis intervention, and stress management, there was Shabbat. Brilliant in concept, revolutionary in design, Shabbat established the legitimacy of rest. It created both space and time for refreshing oneself by providing an opportunity to shed daily cares and daily burdens. It not only excused removing oneself from the “daily grind,” it mandated it. Rest without guilt, peace without conflict, it changed and elevated a small group of desert wanderers into a people whose view of the world would change it. Time set aside for rest and quiet thought offers each of us the gift of a fresh perspective with which to view our lives, our world, and ourselves. Shabbat is a time for quiet reflection and worship as well as time for family and friends.

Mark Twain was correct when he stated, “If the statistics are right, the Jews constitute but one quarter of one percent of the human race. Properly, the Jew ought hardly to be heard of; but he is heard of, has always been heard of.”

That we are heard of, and heard of so often, reflects in large part our Shabbat miracle and the lessons of living it embodies. Truly, Shabbat is our guiding light. This book is a celebration of the most Jewish of holy days, Shabbat.

KABBALAT SHABBAT

Kabbalat Shabbat, “Welcoming the Sabbath,” the opening service on Friday evening, was introduced in the sixteenth century in Safed, Israel. These kabbalists of Safed welcomed the Sabbath by going into the fields on Fridays at sunset to recite special prayers and hymns in honor of the Sabbath amid nature. Six Psalms, numbers 95 through 99 and Psalm 29 symbolizing the six working days of creation, were selected by Rabbi Moses Cordovero, whose brother-in-law, Rabbi Solomon Alkabetz, composed the hymn L’cha Dodi, welcoming the Sabbath bride. The initial Hebrew letters of those six Psalms have the numerical value in gematria of 430, which equals that of nefesh, the Hebrew word for “soul.”

Adapted from Hertz Prayerbook and Encyclopedia Judaica

Kabbalat Shabbat—Welcoming Shabbat

*Yedid nefesh av harachaman, m'shoch avdach el retzonach
Yarutz avdach k'mo ayal, yishtachaveh el mul hadarach, Ye'erav lo yedidutach, minofet tzuf vechol ta'am*

Taste and see that God is good.

Psalm 34:9

*Hadur na'eh ziv ha'olam, nafshi cholat ahavatach,
Ana El na refa na lah, beharot la no'am zivach,
Az titchazeik vetitrapi, vehaitah lach simchat olam.*

*Vatik yehemu rachamecha, v'chus na al ben ohavach,
Ki zeh kamah nichsof nichsaf lirot b'tiferet uzach,
Ana Eli machmad libi, chusha na v'al titalam*

*Higalei na ufros chaviv alai, et sukkat shelomach
Ta'ir eretz mikvodach, nagila v'nismecha bach.
Maher ahuv ki va mo'ed, v'chaneini kimei olam.*

Yedid Nefesh — Beloved of My Soul

Beloved of my soul,
Source of Mercy, draw me after You,
I would run, swift as a deer,
To kneel before Your beauty,
For Your love is sweeter to me
Than honey from the comb.

Glorious light of the world,
My soul is faint with love for You.
Heal me, I beg of You,
By letting me see Your splendor
Then will I be healed,
And joyfully be Yours forever.

Faithful One, have compassion,
Pity Your beloved child,
For I have longed to behold
The splendor of Your strength.
My God, my heart's compassion, do not hide.

Reveal Yourself, my dearest,
And cover me with Your peace.
Let the earth shine with Your glory,
Let us rejoice within You.
Hasten, beloved, this moment is now,
Be with me forever.

Eliezer Azkiri (16th century)

WE ARE ALL MEANT TO SHINE

Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate. Our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure. It is our light, not our darkness, that most frightens us. We ask ourselves, who am I to be brilliant, gorgeous, talented, fabulous? Actually, who are you not to be? You are a child of God. Your playing small does not serve the world. There is nothing enlightened about shrinking so that other people won't feel insecure around you. We are all meant to shine, as children do. We were born to make manifest the glory of God that is within us. It is not just in some of us; it is in everyone. And when we let our own light shine, we unconsciously give other people permission to do the same. As we are liberated from our own fear, our presence automatically liberates others.

Marianne Williamson
A Return to Love

A First Day—Let there be light

...by Your light do we see light.

Psalm 36:10

It is better to light one candle than curse the darkness.

Motto of the Christopher Society

LET US LIGHT THESE LIGHTS

Let us light these lights
And see the way to You
And let us say, Amen.

Oh hear my prayer
I sing to You.
Be gracious to the ones I love,
And bless them with goodness,
and mercy and peace.
Oh hear my prayer to You.

Let us light these lights
And see the way to You
And let us say: Amen

Debbie Friedman

All was darkness and chaos, and God said, "Let there be light!" and there was light. God saw that the light was good, and there was evening and there was morning. A first day.

Genesis I

*For Festivals

Blessed are You, Eternal our God, Source of the universe, who teaches us ways of holiness, and calls us to kindle the Sabbath (and festival) lights.

Blessed are You, Source of Life,
Who helps us to bring
Light where there is darkness,
Healing where there is brokenness, and Peace to all of the earth's inhabitants.

Kolot: The Center for Jewish Women's and Gender Studies

As we light these Shabbat candles, we witness one of the most dramatic miracles of the physical world: the transformation of matter into energy. This miracle, like most, happens quietly and calmly. May the quiet of Shabbat enable us to see the other miracles of our lives.

Chaim Nachman Bialik

Come, let us sing joyously to the Eternal,
raise a shout for our rock and deliverer;
let us come into God's presence with praise;
let us raise a shout for God in song!

For the Eternal is a great God,
the Sovereign of all divine beings.
In Your hand are the depths of the earth;
the peaks of the mountains are Yours.

Yours is the sea, You made it;
and the land, which Your hands fashioned.

Come, let us bow down and kneel,
bend the knee before the Eternal our Maker,
for You are our God,
and we are the people You tend, the flock in Your care.

O, if you would but heed God's charge this day:
Do not be stubborn as Meribah,
as on the day of Massah, in the wilderness,
when your ancestors put Me to the test,
tried Me, though they had seen My deeds.

Forty years I was provoked by that generation;
I thought, "They are a senseless people;
they would not know My ways."
Concerning them I swore in anger,
"They shall never come to My resting-place!"

Grant me to walk in beauty and that my eyes may ever behold the crimson sunset. May my hands treat with respect the things which thou hast created, may my ears hear thy voice!

Make me wise that I may understand the things which thou hast taught my people, which thou hast hidden in every leaf and every rock.

I long for strength, not in order that I may overreach my brother, but to fight my greatest enemy—myself.

Make me ever ready to come to thee with pure hands and candid eyes, so that my spirit, when life disappears like the setting sun, may stand unashamed before thee.

Traditional Sioux Prayer

A Second Day

God created an expanse to separate the waters below from the waters above. And God called the expanse sky. And there was evening and there was morning. A second day.

Genesis I

SING UNTO GOD

Sing unto God, sing a new song,
O sing praises to God
Give thanks to God with a song
O sing praises unto the Lord thy God.

Rejoice in the Lord, all ye righteous,
And cry out to the Lord with joy,
sing out from your hearts
O sing praises to God.
Bless God's name,
O sing unto the Lord a song of prayer
Sing praises to the Lord
Sing unto God.

Sing a new song, sing a new song unto God.

Debbie Friedman

Psalm 96

Sing to the Eternal a new song,
 sing to the Eternal, all the earth.
Sing to the Eternal, bless God's name,
 proclaim God's victory day after day.
Tell of God's glory among the nations,
 The wondrous deeds, among all peoples.
For the Eternal is great and much acclaimed,
 God is held in awe by all divine beings.
All the gods of the peoples are mere idols,
 but the Eternal made the heavens.
Glory and majesty are before You;
 strength and splendor are in Your temple.

Ascribe to the Eternal, O families of the peoples,
 ascribe to the Eternal glory and strength.
Ascribe to the Eternal the glory of God's name,
 bring tribute and enter God's courts.
Bow down to the Eternal majestic in holiness;
 tremble in God's presence, all the earth!
Declare among the nations, "The Eternal reigns!"
 the world stands firm; it cannot be shaken;
 God judges the people equally.
Let the heavens rejoice and the earth exult;
 let the sea and all within it thunder,
 the fields and everything in them exult;
Then shall all the trees of the forest shout for joy
 at the presence of the Eternal, for God is coming,
 for God is coming to rule the earth;
God will rule the world justly and its peoples in faithfulness.

The best remedy for those who are afraid, lonely, or unhappy is to go outside, somewhere where they can be quite alone with the heavens, nature, and God. Because only then does one feel that all is as it should be and that God wishes to see people happy, amidst the simple beauty of Nature. As long as this exists, and it certainly always will, I know that there will always be comfort for every sorrow, whatever the circumstances may be. And I firmly believe that nature brings solace in all troubles.

A Third Day

TEACH ME A PRAYER

Teach me, my God, a blessing, a prayer
On the mystery of a withered leaf
On ripened fruit so fair
On the freedom to see, to sense,
To breathe, to know, to hope, to despair.

Teach my lips a blessing, a hymn of praise
As each morning and night
You renew your days,
Lest my days be as the one before
Lest routine set my ways.

Leah Goldberg
(translated by Pnina Peli)

God called the dry land earth, and God saw that this was good.
The earth brought forth vegetation and fruit trees of every kind.
And God saw this was good. And there was evening and there was morning. A third day.

Genesis I

Psalm 97

The Eternal reigns!
Let the earth exult,
the many islands rejoice!
Dense clouds are around God,
righteousness and justice are the base of God's throne.
Fire is Your vanguard,
burning Your foes on every side.
Your lightning lights up the world;
the earth trembles at the sight;
mountains melt like wax at the Eternal's presence,
at the presence of the Eternal of all the earth.
The heavens proclaim God's righteousness and all peoples see God's glory.
All who worship images,
who vaunt their idols,
are dismayed;
all divine beings bow down to You.
Zion, hearing it, rejoices,
the towns of Judah exult,
because of Your judgments, O Eternal.
For You, Eternal, are supreme over all the earth;
You are exalted high above all divine beings.
O you who love the Eternal, hate evil!
God guards the lives of God's loyal ones,
saving them from the hand of the wicked.
Light is sown for the righteous,
radiance for the upright.
O you righteous, rejoice in the Eternal and acclaim God's holy name!

Genesis I

Psalm 98

Sing to the Eternal a new song,
for God has worked wonders;
Your right hand, Your holy arm,
has won You victory.
The Eternal has manifested victory,
has displayed triumph in the sight of the nations.
You have remembered Your steadfast love and faithfulness toward the house of Israel;
all the ends of the earth beheld the victory of our God.
Raise a shout to the Eternal, all the earth,
break into joyous songs of praise!
Sing praise to the Eternal with the lyre,
with the lyre and melodious song.
With trumpets and the blast of the horn raise a shout before the Eternal, supreme.
Let the sea and all within it thunder,
the world and its inhabitants;
let the rivers clap their hands,
the mountains sing joyously together at the presence of the Eternal,
for God is coming to rule the earth;
God will rule the world justly,
and its peoples with equity.

YOU ARE THE ONE

You are the One, for this I pray,
That I may have the strength to be alone.
To see the world, to stand among the trees,
And all the living things.
That I might stand alone and offer prayers and talk to you;
You are the One to Whom I do
belong.
And I'll sing my soul,
I'll sing my soul to You
And give You all that's in my heart.

May all the foliage of the field,
All grasses, trees and plants,
Awaken at my coming, this I pray,
And send their life into my words of prayer.
So that my speech, my thoughts and my prayers will be made whole,
And through the spirit of all growing things.
And we know that everything is one,
Because we know that everything is You.

You are the One, for this I pray,
I ask you, God, to hear my words.
That pour out from my heart; I stand before you;
I, like water, lift my hands to you in prayer.
And grant me strength, and grant me strength to stand alone.
You are the One to whom I do
belong.
And I'll sing my soul, I'll sing my soul to You
And give you all that's in my heart.

You are the One, for this I pray,
And I'll sing my soul to You.

A Fifth Day

God said, "Let the water bring forth swarms of living creatures, and birds that fly above the earth across the expanse of the sky." And God saw that this was good. And there was evening and there was morning. A fifth day.

Genesis I

Psalm 99

The Eternal, enthroned on cherubim, reigns, nations tremble, the earth quakes.
The Eternal is great in Zion, and exalted above all peoples.
They praise Your name as great and awesome;
You are holy!
Mighty One who loves justice,
it was You who established equity,
You who worked righteous judgment in Jacob.
Exalt the Eternal our God
and bow down to God's footstool;
You are holy!
Moses and Aaron among Your priests,
Samuel, among those who call on God's name,
when they called to the Eternal,
You answered them.
You spoke to them in a pillar of cloud;
they obeyed Your decrees,
the law You gave them.
O Eternal our God, You answered them;
You were a forgiving God for them,
but You exacted retribution for their misdeeds.
Exalt the Eternal our God,
and bow toward God's holy mountain,
for the Eternal our God is holy.

The Sixth Day

God said, "Let the earth bring forth every kind of living creature: cattle, creeping things and wild beasts." And God saw that this was good. And God said, "Let us make human beings in the divine image"; male and female God created them. And God blessed them. God saw all of creation, and it was very good. And there was evening and there was morning. The sixth day.

Genesis I

FOR SIX DAYS . . .

For six days, I have been a warrior. Like David, I went to battle against giants. Only my battles were waged with other commuters on the road, and with my competitors, and even with my customers. I led an army of subordinates, and we reported to 4-star bosses.

For six evenings, I have been a warrior. The battles rage on in my own camp. Only now, I found myself fighting bills and chores. I was losing the battle against time.

Finally, a truce has been called. Its name is Shabbat, and it has arrived not a moment too soon. The noise of the war of life has dimmed. A calmness is settling in around me, and perhaps I will calm down before this Shabbat is over. God, over this Shabbat, allow me to make peace with my giants, and with myself.

Psalm 29 A psalm of David

Acclaim the Eternal, O divine beings,
 ascribe to the Eternal glory and strength.
Ascribe to the Eternal the glory of Your name;
 bow down to the Eternal, majestic in holiness.
The voice of the Eternal is over the waters;
 The God of glory thunders over the mighty waters.
The voice of the Eternal is power;
 the voice of the Eternal is majesty;
 the voice of the Eternal breaks cedars;
 the Eternal shatters the cedars of Lebanon, making the hills skip like rams,
 the mountains leap like lambs.
The Eternal commands rock-splitting lightning;
 the voice of the Eternal stirs the wilderness;
 the voice of the Eternal strips forests bare,
 while in God's temple all chant: "Glory!"
The Eternal sat enthroned at the Flood;
 the Eternal sits enthroned, reigning forever.
May the Eternal grant strength to God's people;
 may the Eternal endow God's people with wholeness.

Come my beloved, toward the bride,
Let us welcome Shabbat.

Observe and remember in one utterance,
The unified God made us hear,
God is one and His name is one,
In name, beauty, and praise.

Come, let us go toward Shabbat,
As she is the fountain of blessing,
Anointed from the start, from before,
Last in creation, first in thought.

Sanctuary of the king, royal city, Arise, leave from amidst the destruction,
You dwelt long enough in the Valley
of Bakha,
And He will bestow mercy upon you.

Shake-off, arise from the dust,
Dress in beautiful garments, my people
By the hand of the son of Jesse,
the Bethlehemite,
Near the soul; redeem her.

Awaken, awaken,
For your light arrives. Arise, shine.
Awake, awake, recite a poem,
The glory of God will be revealed upon you.

Do not be embarrassed. Do not be ashamed.
Why are you downcast? Why are you confounded?
The poor of the people find refuge within you.
Then a city will be built on its footprint.

Then the plunderers will be plundered,
And all of your annihilators distanced,
Your God will rejoice over you,
As a groom rejoices over his bride.

Break-out to the right and left,
And exalt God,
By the hand of a descendant of Perez,
Let us be happy and joyous.

Come in peace, crown of her husband,
In both happiness and exuberance,
Within the faithful of the treasured
people,
Come my bride, come my bride.

L'Chá Dodi

TO BE IN TUNE WITH EACH OTHER

To be in tune with each other, and with a power greater than ourselves; to be thinking, singing, believing and literally breathing together; to simultaneously experience tension and release: Is this fantasy? No, just a description of the natural everyday experience of singing in a good choir.

Since humans are instinctively vocal, and therefore need no special training to sing, the most egalitarian form of all music is vocal music. And the most unifying vocal music is that which is sung together, in chorus.

From the time of the Levites in the Temple in Jerusalem to our own time, it is with music that we celebrate, mourn and dream. For when we sing, we reveal where we've been, who we are, and all that we can be.

The Seventh Day—The Shabbat

The heaven and the earth were complete, and their array.
On the seventh day, God ceased from the work of creation, and God blessed this rest and called it holy.

Genesis II

No system that engages a variety of human beings can be absolutely perfect. But, Shabbat comes very close to perfection. It is a day of release and of reenergizing; a day of family and of community; of spirit and of physical well-being. It is a day of prayer and of study; of synagogue and of home; a day of rest and self-indulgence; of compassion and of self-esteem. It is ancient, yet contemporary; a day for all seasons. A gift and a responsibility. Without it I could not live.

Psalm 92 A psalm. A song for the Sabbath day.

It is good to give thanks to the Eternal,
to sing hymns to Your name, O Most High!
To tell of Your love in the morning,
to sing at night of Your faithfulness;
to pluck the strings, to sound the lute,
to make the harp vibrate.

Your deeds, O Eternal, fill me with gladness,
Your work moves me to song.
How great are Your works, O Eternal!
How profound Your design!

The fool will never learn,
the dullard never grasp this:
the wicked may flourish like grass,
all who do evil may blossom,
yet they are doomed to destruction,
while You, O Eternal, are exalted for all time.

See how Your enemies, O Eternal,
see how Your enemies shall perish,
how all who do evil shall be scattered.
You lift up my head in pride,
I am bathed in freshening oil.
I shall see the defeat of my foes,
my ears shall hear of their fall.

There are days when we seek things for ourselves and measure failure by what we do not gain.

On the Sabbath we seek not to acquire but to share.

There are days when we exploit nature as if it were a horn of plenty that can never be exhausted.

On the Sabbath we stand in wonder before the mystery of creation.

There are days when we act as if we cared nothing for the rights of others.

On the Sabbath we are reminded that justice is our duty and a better world our goal.

Therefore we welcome Shabbat — Day of rest, day of wonder, day of peace.

Psalm 92 (continued)

Tzadik katamar yifrach, k'erez bal'vanon yisgeh, Sh'tulim b'veit Adonai, b'chatzrot Eloheinu yafriychu.

*Od y'nuvun b'seiva, d'sheinim v'ra-ananim yihiyu,

The righteous shall flourish like palms,
grow tall like cedars in Lebanon.
Rooted in the house of the Eternal,
they shall be ever fresh and green,
proclaiming that the Eternal is just,
my Rock, in whom there is no wrong.

Psalm 93

You are sovereign
Clothed with goodness
Dressed in strength

And so the world is firmly established
And it cannot be moved

You, addressed by the world's voice
Are firmly established from the first
And before and after the first

The rivers have been lifted
The rivers' cries, the rivers' shouts have been lifted
The rivers have lifted their dark waves

But more than the thunder of the waters
More than the thumping of the seas
Is You

Your witnessing is steadfast
Your house is ever whole

Even past the end of time

STONES

Wherever you go there are stones aligned or heaped upon the graves
People come to bring honor or take memory
and when they leave
they leave a stone.

Is it like planting a seed of continuity for that life?

That's not the only mystery in the Jewish texts of death. When the service ends the leader chants:
may God Filled With Compassion, bind up the soul of the deceased
in the bundle of life.

So said Abigail to David, very much alive, may your soul, she blessed, be bound up in the bundle of life; and as for the souls of your enemies, may God toss them from the hollow of the sling.

In the fields of history a clay pocket was found, filled with stones, upon which was written a roll call of the flock: so many ewes, so many lambs, and then the mark of the shepherd. He would toss a little stone from the bundle when one was sold or died.

Is this an echo, our prayer to the Shepherd,
that in the final counting,
our souls, too, be harvested,
the scattered stones upon the graves,
and safely bound into the bundle of the living?

Psalm 121 A Song of Ascents

Esa eynai el heharim mei-ayin yavo ezri? Ezri mei-im Adonai oseh shamayim va-aretz.

I turn my eyes to the mountains;
from where will my help come?
My help comes from the Eternal,
maker of heaven and earth.
God will not let your foot give way;
your guardian will not slumber;
See, the guardian of Israel
neither slumbers nor sleeps!
The Eternal is your guardian,
the Eternal is your protection at your right hand.
By day the sun will not strike you,
nor the moon by night.
The Eternal will guard you from all harm;
God will guard your life.
The Eternal will guard your going and coming now and forever.

Psalm 23

Eternal One, You are my shepherd, I shall not want.
You make me lie down in green pastures,
You lead me beside still waters;
You restore my soul.
You guide me in paths of righteousness for Your Name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I shall fear no evil, for You are with me;
Your rod and Your staff — they comfort me.
You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
You have anointed my head with oil;
My cup overflows.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life,
And I shall dwell in the house of the Eternal forever.

WHY I AM A RELIGIOUS NATURALIST

I am a religious naturalist. What does that mean? It means I believe that God exists within the universe rather than operating upon it from outside; that God works through the natural laws divinely created and sustained; laws that God cannot interrupt or suspend without self denial.

The difference is crucial. Bread bakes in response to the external heat of the oven and the internal processes activated by the yeast within the dough. A flower grows because of sunlight acting upon it from outside and because of a growth urge within the seed and sprout. I believe that God is to the universe as the yeast is to the loaf, as the growth urge is to the rose bush.

What, then, can I expect from God?

I can expect God to be as consistent in sustaining the natural spiritual law operating in the universe as in the physical realm. An infant is born with a tremendous hunger for love. If this basic need remains unsatisfied, the infant will become a spiritually crippled adult in the same way that a person whose legs had been confined in a cast since birth would become physically crippled. This is an unchangeable spiritual law of nature. Similarly, if I habitually hate others, my hatred will in the end corrupt me more than them. It will act as a slow, steady buildup of poison within me.

I can count equally on God's continuing to act as the driving force within the evolutionary process. God is neither a retired architect nor an absentee landlord. God did not just set the universe in motion and then lie down for a cosmic nap while the machinery went on working by itself. Evolution did not reach its present human level through natural selection alone, though, to be sure, this has been one of its mechanisms. I am convinced that within the whole adventure there has been an active agent, an innate thrust toward life, toward even more complex, sensitive forms of life, finally toward the pursuit of truth, beauty, and goodness. That energy, that thrust, is God.

Let every soul praise God.

Hallelujah!

These quiet moments of Shabbat open my soul. Blessed with another week of life, I give thanks to God who creates and sustains us.

For all the good I have known during the days that have passed, I am very grateful. I know I have not always responded with my best effort, but often I did earnestly try. I have tried to give my family love and devotion, and I pray that I may grow more loving as the years pass.

Even as I regret my weakness, I rejoice in my accomplishments. Let these achievements, O God, lead to many others. May I be blessed on each Shabbat with the sense of having grown in goodness and compassion. There have been times when I endeavored to help those in need. Now I ask only that I may be able to do yet more. Let my actions testify to my worth as Your partner in creation; more and more let me find my life's meaning in working with others to bless our lives by making this a better world.

Reader's Kaddish

HISTORY OF THE KADDISH

Originally the Kaddish had no connection with death. Written in Aramaic, a sister language to Hebrew (except for the last verse in Hebrew – Oseh Shalom . . .), the Kaddish is a doxology, a prayer of praise to God. In ancient times, as today, it was recited several times during the course of congregational prayers, after the Scripture lesson, and at the conclusion of every study session in the Bet Hamidrash (Academy) and the synagogue. At the end of each discourse, recitation of the Kaddish lifted the spirits of the assembly, raising hopes in the redemption of the world.

In time the Kaddish became associated with the death of a scholar and was recited at the end of the Shiva period (Soferim 19:12). Later, out of concern for the feelings of others, it was recited after the burial of every Jew (Nachmanides, Torat ha-Adam).

adapted from
Rabbi Bernard Zlotowitz
Reform Judaism

The Kaddish also functions to separate parts of the service. This Kaddish separates the “warm-up,” preparatory part of the service, from the “core service” which immediately follows. The “core service” opens with the Barchu, the call to worship.

Creation

Blessed are You, Eternal our God, Source of the Universe, whose word brings on the evening. Your wisdom opens heaven's gates; Your understanding makes the ages pass and the seasons alternate; and Your will controls the stars as they travel through the skies.

IF YOU LOOK AT THE STARS

Praise Me, says God, and I will know that you love Me.
Curse Me, says God, and I will know that you love Me.
Praise Me or curse Me.
And I will know that you love Me.

Sing out My graces, says God.
Raise your fist against Me and revile, says God,
Sing out graces or revile,
Reviling is also a kind of praise, says God.

But if you sit fenced off in your apathy, says God,
If you sit entrenched in, "I don't give a hang," says God,
If you look at the stars and yawn,
If you see suffering and don't cry out,
If you don't praise and you don't revile,
Then I created you in vain, says God.

New Prayers for the High Holidays

You are Creator of day and night, rolling light away from darkness, and darkness from light; You cause day to pass and bring on the night; You set day and night apart: You are the God of all.

May the living and Eternal God rule us always, till the end of time!

Blessed is the Eternal, whose word makes evening fall.

Talmud Berachot 11b

Alternative Translation:

Beloved are You, Eternal God, Soul of the universe,
By whose design the evening falls,
By whose command dimensions open up.
And seasons pass away
And stars spin in their orbits.
You beat the rhythm of day and night.
The alternation of light and darkness sings Your creative word.
In westering sun and spreading dusk,
God of all things, You are made manifest.
Eternal, everlasting God,
May we ever be aware of Your dominion.
Beloved are You, O Lord,
In this serene hour of nightfall.

Traditionally, I have responded to the transcendent mystics of all religions. I have always responded with breathless excitement to anyone who has ever said that God does not live in a dogmatic scripture or in a distant throne in the sky, but instead abides very close to us indeed — much closer than we can imagine, breathing right through our own hearts. I respond with gratitude to anyone who has ever voyaged to the center of that heart, and who has then returned to the world with a report for the rest of us that God is an experience of supreme love.

INTERPRETIVE VERSION:

AHAVAT OLAM

We are loved by an unending love.
We are embraced by arms that find us even when we are hidden from ourselves.

We are touched by fingers that soothe us
even when we are too proud for soothing.
We are counseled by voices that guide us
even when we are too embittered to hear.
We are loved by an unending love.

We are supported by hands that uplift us
even in the midst of a fall.
We are urged on by eyes that meet us even when we are too weak for meeting.
We are loved by an unending love.

Embraced, touched, soothed, and counseled . . . ours are the arms, the fingers, the voices; ours are the hands, the eyes, the smiles. We are loved by an unending love.

Blessed are You, who loves Your people Israel.

Strange is our situation here upon earth. Each of us comes for a short visit, not knowing why, yet seeming to divine a purpose. From the standpoint of daily life, however, there is one thing we do know. That we are here for the sake of others. . . . Above all, for those upon whose smile and well-being our own happiness depends, and also for the countless unknown souls with whose fate we are connected by the bond of sympathy. Many times a day I realize how much my own inner and outer life is built upon the labors of my fellow men, both living and dead, and how earnestly I must exert myself in order to give in return as much as I have received and am still receiving.

To See, to Remember, and to Observe

The blue-violet cord of the fringes served as a reminder of nobility. The blue-violet dye was extracted from the gland of the murex snail. Twelve thousand snails were needed to provide 1.4 grams of pure dye. No wonder that during the reign of Nabonidus, the last king of Babylon (555-539 BCE), purple wool was forty times more expensive than wool dyed with other colors. In 200 BCE, one gram of dye cost $84, or $36,000 per pound . . . The Bible apparently assumed that even the poorest Israelite could afford at least four violet threads, one for each tassel . . . However, only the very rich could afford large quantities of the dye. Indeed, Roman emperors retained for themselves the exclusive privilege of wearing purple mantles, thus giving rise to the color names still used today, "royal blue" and "royal purple" . . . The Bible also affirms that violet cloth was worn by nobility (Ezekiel 23:6, Esther 1:6). Thus weaving a violet thread into the tzitzit enhances its symbolism as a mark of nobility. Further, since all Jews are required to wear it, it is a sign that Jews are a people of nobility. Their sovereign, however, is not mortal . . . but God . . .

The purpose of the tzitzit is set out to be a series of verbs: "look . . . recall . . . observe." These three verbs effectively summarize and define the pedagogic technique of the ritual system of the Torah: sight (i.e., senses) combined with memory (i.e., the intellect) as translated into action (i.e., good deeds).

Rabbi Jacob Milgrom
JPS Torah Commentary: Numbers

If you will earnestly heed the mitzvot I give you this day, to love the Eternal your God and to serve God with all your heart and all your soul, then I will favor your land with rain at the proper season—rain in autumn and rain in spring—and you will have an ample harvest of grain and wine and oil. I will assure abundance in the fields for your cattle. You will eat to contentment. Take care lest you be tempted to forsake God and turn to false gods in worship. For then the wrath of the Eternal will be directed against you. God will close the heavens and hold back the rain: the earth will not yield its produce. You will soon disappear from the good land which the Eternal is giving you.

Therefore, impress these words of Mine upon your heart. Bind them as a sign upon your hand, and let them be a reminder above your eyes. Teach them to your children. Repeat them at home and away, morning and night. Inscribe them upon the doorposts of your homes and upon your gates, Then your days and the days of your children on the land which the Eternal swore to give to your ancestors will endure as the days of the heavens over the earth.

Deuteronomy 11:13-21

The Eternal said to Moses: Instruct the people Israel that in every generation they shall put fringes on the corners of their garments, and bind a thread of blue to the fringe of each corner. Looking upon it you will be reminded of all the mitzvot of the Eternal and fulfill them and not be seduced by your heart or led astray by your eyes. Then you will remember and observe all My mitzvot and be holy before your God. I am the Eternal your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God. I, the Eternal, am your God.

We look at the miracles, at the devastation,
At lives glorified, exalted, wasted, destroyed.

We do not know after three thousand years
we do not know who you are. Are you great or merely silent? Eternal or simply mute? We do not know. We cannot know.

Redemption

*Mi chamocha ba-eilim, Adonai?
Mi kamocha, ne-edar bakodesh,
Nora t'hilot, oseh feleh?*

You cannot find redemption until you see the flaws in your own soul, and try to face them. Nor can a people be redeemed until it sees the flaws in its soul and tries to face them. But whether it be an individual or a people, whoever shuts out the realization of his or her flaws is shutting out redemption. We can be redeemed only to the extent to which we see ourselves.

Who is like You, Eternal One, among the gods that are worshipped? Who is like You, majestic in holiness, awesome in splendor, doing wonders?

Exodus 15:11

In their escape from the sea, Your children saw Your sovereign might displayed. "This is my God!" they cried. "The Eternal will reign forever and ever!"

And it has been said: "The Eternal delivered Jacob, and redeemed him from the hand of one stronger than himself." Blessed is the Eternal, the Redeemer of Israel.

PRAYER

O God, give us the serenity to accept what cannot be changed, courage to change what should be changed, and wisdom to distinguish the one from the other.

Reinhold Niebuhr

Grant us, O Eternal God, that we may lie down in peace, and raise us up, O Sovereign, to life renewed. Spread over us the sukkah of Your peace; guide us with Your good counsel; and for Your name's sake, be our Help.

Shield us from hatred and plague; keep us from war and famine and anguish; subdue our inclination to evil.

O God, our Guardian and Helper, our gracious and merciful Ruler, give us refuge in the shadow of Your wings. O guard our coming and our going, that now and always we have life and peace.

Blessed is the Eternal, whose sukkah of peace is spread over us, over all Your people Israel, over the whole world and over Jerusalem.

The people of Israel shall keep the Sabbath, observing the Sabbath in every generation as a covenant for all time. It is a sign forever between Me and the people of Israel, for in six days the Eternal God made heaven and earth, and on the seventh day God rested and was restored.

INTRODUCTION TO THE AMIDAH

Standing here in Abraham's desert
Affirming: one God.

Moving in the old spaces
Warmed by our ancestors' embrace.

Standing here in Sarah's tent
Laughing: new life.

Moving in the old spaces
Renewed by our ancestors' hope.

Standing here in my place
Listening to our voices: yearning.

Moving in my own spaces
Translating the silence.

זְכָרָנוּ לְחַיִים מֶלֶךְ חֶפְץ בְּחִים וְכַתְבָנוּ בְּסֶפֶר הַחִים
לְמַעַן אֱלֹהִים חַיִים.

The Tefilah/Amidah

When standing before God, you rush to speak, your heart
bursting with needs and urgency.
You crowd the air with words of praise and pleading.
You leave no room for Silence and none for hearing.
It is not God you worship, but your own voice and opinion.

Better to stand in Silence.
Do not rush your words, but seek to quiet them.
With a quiet mind, a heart still and silent,
You will see the infinity of God and the finity of self.
Humility will embrace you,
and you will fade into That Which Is All That Is.
Your words will be few;
The silence, great.
There is room then for listening.

Just as dreams flood the sleeping mind,
So words engulf the waking mind.

When you promise something to God, do that thing quickly.
Delay makes fools of good intentions.
You are only as good as your pledge.

Better to promise nothing
Than to fulfill no promise.

Do not allow your mouth and body to betray each other,
Promising one thing while doing another.
Your reputation will suffer,
And all your deeds come under suspicion.

ON PRAYER

Why do we ask God for things when we pray? Do we imagine that if we did not ask, God would not know what we desire? Do we suppose that an all-knowing God had not intended to grant us a certain gift, but seeing how earnest we are, how deeply we pray, God's mind is changed? Perhaps God is simply flattered by the effusion of praise?

An analogy used by Leon of Modena explains: Imagine a man sitting on his boat on a lake pulling himself, by means of a rope, back to shore. To someone standing far off, it might appear that he is moving the shore closer. Of course it is only the boat that moves. Similarly, he explains, people think they are moving God when they are really moving themselves. We are the boats and God is the shore.

God does not need our flattery; but we need reminders of God's greatness. God does not change in response to our requests, but we do. God remains unfathomable, but with each earnest prayer we come to understand ourselves a bit better. With each pull, we draw closer to God. And if our prayer draws us closer to God, then the prayer has been answered.

The Holiness of Shabbat

ETERNITY UTTERS A DAY

A thought has blown the market place away; there is a song in the wind and joy in the trees.

The Sabbath arrives in the world, scattering a song in the silence of the night: eternity utters a day.

Where are the words that could compete with such might?

Six days a week we live under the tyranny of things of space; on the Sabbath we try to become attuned to the holiness in time.

Six days a week we wrestle with the world, wringing profit from the earth; on the Sabbath we especially care for the seed of eternity planted in the soul.

The world has our hands, but the soul belongs to Someone Else.

Six days a week we seek to dominate the world; on the seventh day we try to dominate the self.

To set apart a day a week, a day on which we would not use the instruments so easily turned into weapons of destruction, a day for being with ourselves, a day on which we stop worshipping the idols of technical civilization, a day on which we use no money, a day of armistice in the economic struggle with others and with the forces of nature — is there any institution that holds out a greater hope for human progress than the Sabbath?

Worship

On Hanukkah

We give thanks for the redeeming wonders and the mighty deeds by which, at this season, our people were saved in days of old.

In the days of the Hasmoneans, a tyrant arose against our ancestors, determined to make them forget Your Torah, and to turn them away from obedience to Your will. But You were at their side in time of trouble. You gave them strength to struggle and to triumph, that they might serve You in freedom.

Through the power of Your spirit the weak defeated the strong, the few prevailed over the many, and the righteous were triumphant. Then Your children returned to Your house, to purify the sanctuary and kindle its lights. And they dedicated these days to give thanks and praise to Your great name.

JACOB'S ANGELS - SEPTEMBER 2001

Jacob came upon a certain place and he stopped to rest for the night. He took a stone and placed it under his head and he fell asleep. Jacob had a dream. He dreamed of a stairway that climbed from the earth up into the clouds, and on this stairway Jacob saw that angels were going up and down. In the darkened smoke-filled stairwells, firefighters, police officers, and paramedics climbed up and down. The injured and frightened watched as these angels climbed the stairs towards the heavens, their voices guiding and reassuring them as they made their way down. Then suddenly the stairs were gone, only the smoke and dust remained. Our heroes now had only to reach the top; there would be no return down. Jacob awoke from his dream and thought, "God was in this place and I did not know it." Our heroes awoke from their dream and they were in a place of God and surely they and we, all knew it.

Lord make me an instrument of your peace!

Where there is hatred,
let me sow love;
where there is injury, pardon;
where there is doubt, faith;
where there is despair, hope;
where there is darkness, light;
where there is sadness, joy.
O divine Master,
grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled
as to console;
to be understood as to understand;
to be loved as to love;
for it is in giving that we receive;
it is in pardoning that we are pardoned
as it is in dying
that we are born to eternal life.

Peace

AN APPENDIX TO THE VISION OF PEACE

Don't stop after beating the swords into ploughshares, don't stop! Go on beating and making musical instruments out of them. Whoever wants to make war again will have to turn them into ploughshares first.

Yehuda Amichai (translated from Hebrew)

O God, keep my tongue from evil and my lips from deceit. Help me to be silent in the face of derision, humble in the presence of all. Open my heart to Your Torah, and I will hasten to do Your Mitzvot. Save me with Your power; in time of trouble be my answer, that those who love You may rejoice.

The heavens and the earth, and all within them, were completed. On the seventh day God had completed the work of Creation. Then God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, for on it God ceased from all creative work.

We praise You, Eternal our God, God of our ancestors, God of Abraham, God of Isaac, God of Jacob; God of Sarah, God of Rebecca, God of Rachel and God of Leah. Great, mighty, and awesome God, God on High, Creator of heaven and earth.

Protector of our ancestors, breathing life into lifelessness with the Divine Word, the Holy One is beyond compare. God has given us a Shabbat of holiness and rest. We serve You in awe and daily give You thanks, the Oasis of Blessings, Source of Peace. You hallow the Shabbat, blessing this seventh day, infusing us with holiness and joy – recalling the act of Creation.

Our God and God of our ancestors, may our Shabbat rest be acceptable to You. May Your Mitzvot lead us to holiness, and may we be among those who devote themselves to Your Torah. May we find contentment in Your blessings, and joy in Your sustaining power. Purify our hearts to serve You in truth, and help us to enjoy, in love and favor, the heritage of Your holy Shabbat. May Your people Israel, who hallow Your name, find true rest on this day. Blessed are You, O Eternal, who hallows the Shabbat.

Let our voices be heard
There is none like You
No deed can compare

We celebrate creation
To the life that You gave birth
You are mighty as the river
So sweet is Your love
You are strong as the tide
Gentle as the dove

A yad lays quietly atop worn-down skin
Quietly waiting Resting
Hoping someone will soon come
Lift its tired worn out body
To lightly touch the skin
To brush over it and hear the dried,
black,
confusing ink that dresses the skin,
To hear it chanted
Like every other time
The all too familiar warmth the little yad feels
The knowledge that those black lines
the smooth skin
and its metallic body will ensure one more week
One more day
Of the religion we have all fought for
And the God we all love!

Music by Debbie Friedman
Lyrics by Debbie Friedman and Dvorah Setel

I asked for strength that I might achieve;
I was made weak that I might learn humbly to obey.

I asked for health that I might do greater things;
I was given infirmity that I might do better things.

I asked for riches that I might be happy;
I was given poverty that I might be wise.

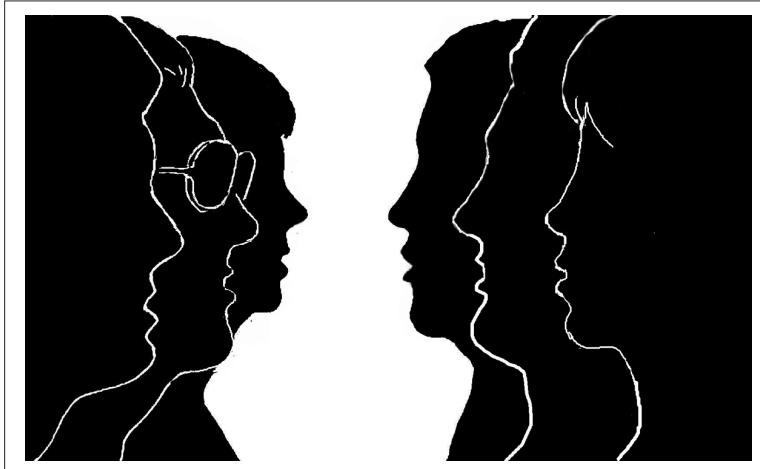

I asked for power that I might have the praise of men;
I was given weakness that I might feel the need of God.

I asked for all things that I might enjoy life;
I was given life that I might enjoy all things.

I got nothing that I had asked for,
But everything that I had hoped for.

Almost despite myself,
my unspoken prayers were answered;
I am, among all men, most richly blessed.

For Healing — A Congregational Prayer

PHYSICIAN'S PRAYER

Exalted God, before beginning my sacred task to bring healing to Your mortal creatures, I beg You grant me the courage and strength faithfully to execute my duties. Guard me both from the blindness of avarice and the thirst for glory and honor. Endow me with the strength equally to serve the rich and the poor, the good and the wicked, friend and enemy — to simply see in each, a fellow human being in pain. Inspire me with the desire to learn from more learned physicians, for the art of medicine, to which I have dedicated myself, is infinite. Protect me, however, from the scorn and ridicule of those who are older or more respected. Let the truth alone guide me, for any professional compromise can bring only illness and tragedy to Your mortal creatures. O most compassionate and merciful God, strengthen me both in body and soul and implant within me a spirit of wholeness.

Moses Maimonides

Bless us with the power of Your hope.
May our hearts be filled with understanding

A Prayer for Our Country

Our God and God of our ancestors: We ask Your blessings for our country, for its government, for its leader and advisors, and for all who exercise just and rightful authority. Teach them insights of Your Torah, that they may administer all affairs of state fairly, that peace and security, happiness and prosperity, justice and freedom may forever abide in our midst.

Deepen our love for our country and our desire to serve it. Strengthen our power of self-sacrifice for our nation's welfare. Teach us to uphold its good name by our own right conduct.

May this land under Your Providence be an influence for good throughout the world, uniting all people in peace and freedom and helping them to fulfill the vision of Your prophet: "Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they experience war any more."

For the State of Israel

We pray for the land of Israel and its people. May its borders know peace, its inhabitants tranquility. And may the bonds of faith and fate which unite the Jews of all lands be a source of strength to Israel and to us all. God of all lands and ages, answer our constant prayer with a Zion once more aglow with light for us and for all the world. And let us say: Amen.

For our Defenders

May the One who blessed our ancestors, Joshua, David and Judah, Deborah, Yael and Judith, bless the children of our congregation and all our congregations and communities who have been called to active service. May they be guided and protected. May their going out and their coming in be for life and for peace, now and forever. And let us say: Amen.

IN ALL THE WAYS WE LOVE

(Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Questioning, Straight)

May the One who blessed those who came before us, Naomi and Ruth, Isaac and Rebecca, Jonathan and David, bless us in all the ways we love. May our journeys together be meaningful and our relationships grow and deepen. May we support each other and share our times of difficulty as well as our celebrations and joys. May we know what a gift our relationships are to this sacred community. And may we always see the Divine spark implanted in each of us. May our bonds and passions continue to be a true blessing in our lives and pleasing in God's eyes. And let us say, Amen.

וזאת התורה אשר שם משה לפני בני ישראל על פי
יְהוָה בְּ יַד מֹשֶׁה:

Torah is a closed book
until it is read with an open heart.

House of Israel, great and small,
open your hearts to the words of Torah.

Torah is demanding,
yet sweeter than honey, more precious than gold.

House of Israel, young and old, open yourselves, heart and soul, to its treasures.

Torah sanctifies life;
it teaches us how to be human and holy.

House of Israel, near and far, cherish the eternal sign of God's love.

Torah is given each day;
each day we can choose to reject or accept it.

House of Israel, now as at Sinai choose to accept and be blessed by its teachings.

Numbers 9:23 and Deuteronomy 4:44

Sometimes even religions become ossified. The holy encounters that they carry seem hopelessly encrusted by centuries of mindless repetition. But we must nevertheless never forget that spiritual light cannot be extinguished. Only buried. And that for this reason every spiritual discovery is but a rediscovery.

In spite of everything, I still believe that people are really good at heart. I simply cannot build up my hopes on a foundation consisting of confusion, misery and death.

I see the world gradually being turned into a wilderness. I hear the ever approaching thunder, which will destroy us, too. I can feel the suffering of millions, and yet, if I look to the heavens, I think that it will all come right, that this cruelty will end, and that peace and tranquility will return again.

ABOUT JEWS

If the statistics are right, the Jews constitute but one quarter of one percent of the human race. It suggests a nebulous dim puff of star dust lost in the blaze of the Milky Way. Properly the Jew ought hardly to be heard of; but he is heard of, has always been heard of. He is as prominent on the planet as any other people, and his importance is extravagantly out of proportion to the smallness of his bulk. His contributions to the world's list of great names in literature, science, art, music, finance, medicine, and abstruse learning are also way out of proportion to the weakness of his numbers. He has made a marvelous fight in this world in all the ages; and has done it with his hands tied behind him. He could be vain of himself and be excused for it. The Egyptians, the Babylonians, and the Persians rose, filled the planet with sound and splendor, then faded to dream-stuff and passed away; the Greeks and the Romans followed, and made a vast noise, and they are gone; other peoples have sprung up and held their torch high for a time, but it burned out, and they sit in twilight now, or have vanished. The Jew saw them all, survived them all, and is now what he always was, exhibiting no decadence, no infirmities of age, no weakening of his parts, no slowing of his energies, no dulling of his alert and aggressive mind. All things are mortal but the Jew; all other forces pass, but he remains. What is the secret of his immortality? . . .

You spread out the heavens and established the earth; You are our God; there is none else. In truth You alone are our Ruler, as it is written: "Know then this day and take it to heart; the Eternal is God in the heavens above and on the earth below; there is none else."

Deuteronomy 4:39

אחד ושמו אחד:

A desire for knowledge for its own sake, a love of justice that borders on fanaticism, and a striving for personal independence – these are aspects of the Jewish people's tradition that allow me to regard my belonging to it as a gift of great fortune.

Those who today rage against the ideals of reason and individual freedom and who seek by means of brutal force to bring about a vapid state slavery are justified in perceiving us as their implacable enemies. History has imposed on us a difficult struggle; but as long as we remain devoted servants of truth, justice and freedom, we will not only persist as the oldest living people, but also continue as before to achieve, through productive labor, works that contribute to the ennoblement of humanity.

Albert Einstein

Aleinu

How much we owe to the labors of others. Day by day they dig far away from the sun that we may be warm, enlist in outposts of peril that we may be secure, and brave the terrors of the unknown for truths that shed light on our way. Numberless gifts and blessings have been laid in our cradles as our birthright.

Let us then, O Lord, be just and great hearted in our dealings with our fellowmen, sharing with them the fruit of our common labor, acknowledging before Thee that we are but stewards of whatever we possess. Help us to be among those who are willing to sacrifice that others may not hunger, who dare to be bearers of light in the dark loneliness of stricken lives, who struggle and even bleed for the triumph of righteousness among men. So may we be co-workers with Thee in the building of Thy Kingdom which has been our vision and our goal through the ages.

Union Prayer Book

We therefore hope, O Eternal our God, soon to behold the glory of Your might. Then will false gods vanish from our hearts, and the world will be perfected under Your unchallenged rule. And then will all acclaim You as their God, and, forsaking evil, turn to You alone.

Let all who dwell on earth acknowledge that unto You every knee must bend and every tongue swear loyalty. Before You, O Eternal our God, let them humble themselves. To Your glorious name let them give honor. Let all accept the yoke of Your dominion, that You may rule over them soon and forever.

For the dominion is Yours, and to all eternity You will reign in glory, as it is written:

“The Eternal will reign forever and ever.”

Exodus 15:18

V'ne-emar: “V'haya Adonai l'melech al kol ha-aretz; bayom hahu yihiyeh Adonai echad u'shemo echad.”

And the Eternal shall reign over all the earth; in that day there shall be one God with one name.

Zechariah 14:9

Meditations Before the Kaddish

At the rising of the sun and at its going down
We remember them.

At the blowing of the wind and in the chill of winter
We remember them.

At the opening of the buds and in the rebirth of spring
We remember them.

At the blueness of the skies and in the warmth of summer
We remember them.

At the rustling of the leaves and in the beauty of autumn
We remember them.

At the beginning of the year and when it ends
We remember them.

When we are weary and in need of strength
We remember them.

When we are lost and sick at heart
We remember them.

When we have joy we crave to share
We remember them.

When we have decisions that are difficult to make
We remember them.

When we have achievements that are based on theirs
We remember them.

As long as we live, they too will live
For they are now a part of us
As we remember them.

adapted from
Rabbi Roland B. Gittelsohn

We say, "When God closes a door, somewhere a window opens." The door closed the day my grandma died. I am trying hard to find that open window. Then I remembered: the eyes are the window to our soul. When I look in the mirror, I see so much of my grandmother in me. I see her warmth, strength, courage and compassion. When my dad was my age, he asked grandma what happens when someone you really love dies, and she said you have to love everyone else a little more. So that's what I'm going to do. My grandmother, Ruth Lusk, loved to the fullest and lived her life to the fullest. My mom, dad, brother and I will miss her more than words can ever say. She will live on in our hearts forever.

Meditations Before the Kaddish

This is My Prayer

This is my prayer to You, my God:
Let not my spirit wither and shrivel in its thirst for You and lose the dew
with which You sprinkled it when I was young . . .

And when my time comes — let me slip into the night demanding nothing, God, of man, or of You.

Hillel Bavli
(translated by Rabbi Norman Tarnor)

The Holy One appears when one thing ends and another thing begins. A baby is born. A child becomes an adult. An old person dies. One enters a room. One leaves a room. One sets out on a journey. Blessed may you be in your coming and blessed may you be in your going out (Deuteronomy 28:6).

God is there. In the spaces in between. Reminding us that we have all along been destined to live forever. Ascending through ever higher spirals of awareness and chambers of light. Allowing us to remember what has gone before. Now we are able to hang onto the thread that binds one life awareness to the next. Returning finally and again beings of pure light.

I, MAY I REST IN PEACE

I, may I rest in peace-I, who am still living say,
May I have peace in the rest of my life.
I want peace right now while I'm still alive.

I don't want to wait like that pious man who wished for one leg of the golden chair of Paradise. I want a four-legged chair right here, a plain wooden chair. I want the rest of my peace now.

I have lived out my life in wars of every kind: battles without and within, close combat, face-to-face, the faces always my own, my lover-face, my enemy-face.

Wars with the old weapons-sticks and stones, blunt axe, words, dull ripping knife, love and hate, and wars with newfangled weapons – machine gun, missile, words, land mines exploding, love and hate.

I don't want to fulfill my parents' prophecy that life is war. I want peace with all my body and all my soul. Rest me in peace.

Kaddish

EPITAPH

When I die
Give what's left of me away
To children
And old men that wait to die.
And if you need to cry,
Cry for your brother
Walking the street beside you.
And when you need me,
Put your arms
Around anyone
And give them
What you need to give to me.

I want to leave you something,
Something better
Than words
Or sounds.

Look for me
In the people I've known
Or loved,
And if you cannot give me away,
At least let me live on your eyes
And not on your mind.

You can love me most
By letting
Hands touch hands,
By letting
Bodies touch bodies,
And by letting go
Of children
That need to be free.

Love doesn't die,
People do.
So, when all that's left of me
Is love,
Give me away.

Saturday Night – Festival Kiddush

On Saturday night add:

Blessed are You, Eternal our God, Source of the universe, Creator of the lights of the fire.

Blessed are You, Eternal our God, Source of the universe, who separates the sacred from the ordinary, light from darkness, Israel from other peoples, the seventh day of rest from the six days of labor. You have made a distinction between the sanctity of Shabbat and the sanctity of festivals, and you have hallowed the Shabbat more than the other days of the week. You have set Your people Israel apart, making their lives holy through attachment to Your holiness.

Blessed are You, Eternal our God, Source of the universe, who separates the sacred (of Shabbat) from the sacred (of the festival.)

On the first day of the festival:

Baruch Atah Adonai, Eloheinu melech ha-olam she-he-cheyanu, v'kiyimanu v'higiyahu laz'man hazeh.

Blessed are You, Eternal our God, Source of the universe, who has kept us alive, sustained us, and enabled us to reach this moment.

ON ANGELS AND MESSENGERS

(In Hebrew they are the same word.)
Each lifetime is the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle.
For some there are more pieces.
For others the puzzle is more difficult to assemble.

Some seem to be born with a nearly completed puzzle.
And so it goes.
Souls going this way and that trying to assemble the myriad parts.

But know this. No one has within themselves
all the pieces to their puzzle.
Like before the days when they used to seal
jigsaw puzzles in cellophane.
Ensuring that all the pieces were there.

Everyone carries with them at least one and probably many pieces to someone else's puzzle.
Sometimes they know it.
Sometimes they don't.

And when you present your piece
which is worthless to you,
to another, whether you know it or not,
whether they know it or not,
you are a messenger from the most High.
